

Emissions from Food

Did you know that beef emits more per pound than other types of meat?

Emissions from global beef production are significantly higher than for other types of meat.

Reducing red meat consumption is one of the most impactful ways we can cut emissions in our personal lives and on production.

This footprint was from a small advertising shoot in 2023.

Try some of the rich and delicious plant protein sources available on your next project!

0.37 t CO2e from Food